I could but admire the fine architectural skill displayed in some of the church edifices of Chicago, among which I may nention the Episcopal Church on or near Lake street, constructed of grey stone, in the most chaste Gothic style, with ever and aron the mestive blocks, done with great skill, indicating good old age from their more covered surface There are many noble structures in Chicago, displaying at once the good taste and thrift of ber people, and pointing most evidently to a lorious destiny which awaits her in the coming time. Young in years though she be still her grant strides in business and commercial impor-

Were I to enumerate the many fine buildings which have sprung up, like magic, within her barders in the space of a year or two, I might make this communication too prolix for any pracical benefit to your columns. I will therefore only indicate a few which arrested my attention sa being very fine, and which it might not be amiss for Milwaukse to imitate. There is the Court House, with its fine parks tastefully laid out and ornamented with trees and shinbbery, and beautiful flowers, with four fountains throw ing up jets of water to full back again in copius showers of spray and tiny drops, imparting an air of freshness and vitality to all around -Compare this with our own Milwanken Court Iouse with its abcep-fed parks, and blush for the want of pride and energy and go aheadstive esse to our people, with all their ample means and natural facilities at hand to rival her Chicago eighbors in anything abs may undertake. "Masonio Temple" is another splended specmen of architectural skill. It is five or six stoties high, with white marble front, and is indeed en ornement to the town. The Marine and Fire Insurance Company's building, as well as the Sasbange Bank and Metropolitan Hali, are also among the aplendid blocks which show off finely om the streets. The Briggs House, Tremont and many others, among its hotels, are at once capacious and beautiful structures - just such as Milwaukes needs now, so the tide of travel is setting in so largely in that direction. It is indeed, passing strange, that among all her capisalists, no man or body of men can be found to start a first class hotel in your city. It needs no "prophet or son of a prophet" to predect that wheever ventures on such an undertaking with ample means to carry it through will double his money to rested in less than ten years. What, with the "Walker" and the "American," and "Obstructions on the Rail Road.

Sex of lack found me in Galens, having passed over a beautiful country and an excellent roadand safely housed at the De Soto. Well, here is a place, haming only about one third the population of Milwaukee, and I should judge, not half the travel, and it has a public house, a served, unless some unforces real that lift for all say something more on this, [but I spure your feelings. Were you ever in Galena? It so how did you get there, and above all, how did you get away? Rullroad engineering has cut a hole in and dag one out, but this regress and egiess occupy all the possible rout 9 I could discern, sa that I began to question whethe any one had been there before, and I thought some of trying to annex it to Wisconsin by vattle of discovery. But I like the looks of " It be a thrifty, business look, comparing very f-vo.at y with any other western place I have visited. Burtled at the foot of a high and rocky bluff, it can have but one good business street, and the shows great life and activity. It is now of course, a dull season of the year, it has not on its list looks. The water in the Fever Biver, very low, and presents a very insignificant aspect, there being apparently less water and re so fit for navigation, as the Menomonee in Milt auther. What few boats are there are lying eground, and few will venture up at all .-I am told that that River, so well as the Minniesippi, its lower now than they have been before or two nly years.

The view from the Bluffe shove the town is beamind. So near are they to the city that you look directly down upon it, the entrance to the back of the stores on the bluff side of the street being in the third story, and this again repeated on the next street. I believe the city is protected from grading the bluffs-they have no where to put the earth. But as it was growing dark as I stoo I there, I hastened down, lest a mis-ster should incominently convert me into another Santa Claus, or impale me on a steeple.

From Galena the road follows down Fever River o the Mississippi battems, and up there to Dunlieth, opposite Dubuque. From this place, which at present consists of a Freight House, and mag different Hotel nearly completed, a steam ferry I rings us to Dubuque. This place I should udge to be about the same size as Galena, but by no means a place of as heavy a trade, though like all others, they are going to be much larger-They have a larger and better place for buildng than Galena, and are certainly improving then the situation. It is a favorite landing place for be to, though they seem to prefer the other side of the river I am told that the best landing place of all is about a mile above the presout, opposite the terminus of he Mil. & Miss

All this reminds me of the numerous queries which have been put to me since I have been here about the prospects of that road. They declate that the sympathies of this place are all with that road, that they have none with the Chicago & Galema and they want to know what the Chicago & Galema and they want to know what the Company are doing. I have been asked this so often, and not only since I have been here but if y persons living on the line of the Road in Wisconsin, that I wish we could have a clear state ant. is no evering train on the Southern Michigan Road on Saturdaya; consequently, I found pleasant quarters at the Sherman House over Sunday, and had an opportunity of attending service in some of the fine charches with which Chic go so pre-eminently abounds. I could but admire the fine architectoral skill displayed in some of the church edifices of Chicago, among whi h I may mention the Episcopal Church on or near Lake wreet, constructed of grey stone, in the most chaste Gothic style, with ever and arou the massive blocks, done with great skill, indireling good old age from their moss covered surface There are many noble structures in Chicago, displaying at once the good taste and thrift of ner people, and pointing most evidently to a us destiny which awaits her to the coming time. Young in years though she be, still her grant strides in business and commercial imporlance sufficiently indicate her healthful and steady progress in the great safe of commercial prosperity, which attaches to her position in the

Were I to enumerate the many fine buildings which have aprung up, like magic, within her borders in the space of a year or two. I might tical benefit to your columns I will therefore only indicate a few which arrested my attention as being very fine, and which it might not be amiss for Milwaukee to Imitate. There is the Court House, with its fine parks tastefully laid out and ornamented with trees and shubbery, and beautiful flowers, with four fountains throwing up jets of water to full back again in copius showers of spray and tiny drops, imparting an air of freshness and vitality to all around -Compare this with our own Milwanken Court House with its sheep-fed parks, and blush for the want of pride and energy and go sheadstiveness in our people, with all their ample means

"Masonic Temple" is another splended specmen of architectural skill. It is five or six storice high, with white marble front, and is indeed an organizatio the town. The Marine and Fire Insurance Company's building, as well as the Sambange Bank and Metropolitan Hall, are also among the splendid blocks which show off finely from the streets. The Beiggs House, Tremont, and many others, among its hotels, are at once capacious and beautiful structures-just such as Milwaukee needs now, as the tide of travel is setting in so largely in that direction. It is indeed, passing strange, that among all her capismple means to carry it through, will double his money invested in less than ten years. What, with the "Walker" and the "American," and the bundred "small fry" thrown in could Milwankee do with the throngs of visitors that would naturally be attracted there on great orenions, like the State Fairs, and the Hailroad Celebrations, &c., &c, with which she is "open" at it is noted deliars. strangers there, stop in town, from this important defect in our otherwise beautiful place But snough of fault-finding. The train over the Southern Michigan Road was delayed on Sueday night and Monday morning, from the effects of a very heavy fall of rain on Saturday night. In two or three places the bridges and embankment were injured or washed away-but with the most solicitous care for the lives of the presengers, the Company had succeeded in keeping men passing over the read, who stood line faithful sentinels at their peats. with red lights displayed, to warn the approaching train of danger. Having by these delays sear Elkhart, Ind., lest from 21/2 to 3 hours time. an almost uniform apeach of 60 miles an hour was reached over the remaining distance, enabling passangers to connect here with the trains and boats going East. Will not your energetic Superintendent of the Mil. and Mis. Roed, since the narrow escape from a fearful catastrophe on that Road a short time since, imitate Mr. Jarvisthe gentlemanly Superintendent of the Southern Michigan Boad, and have men passover the track always immediately in advance of this trains in hand care, and see that no obstructions are placed thereon, to the imminent peril of life This city contains a population of 12,000 in

I believe the city is protected from grading the bluffs-they have no where make this communication too prohx for any practiful stool there, I hastened down, lest a mis-step to put the earth. But as it was growing dark as should incontinently convert me into another Santa Claus, or impale me ou a steeple.

Tiona Galena the road follows down Feve River o the Mississippi bottoms, and up there to Dunlicth, opposite Dubuque. From this place which at present consists of a Freight House, and magnificent Hotel nearly completed, a steam ferry I rings us to Dubuque. This place I should udge to be about the same size as Galens, but by no means a place of as heavy a trade, though like all others, they are going to be much larger. They have a larger and better place for building then Galena, and are certainly improving and natural facilities at hand to rival her Obicago for bo ts, though they seem to prefer the other then time situation. It is a favorite landing place side of the river I am told that the best landing place of all is about a mile above the presout, opposite the terminus of he Mit. & Miss

All this reminds me of the numerous queries which have been put to mo since I have been here about the prospects of that road. They declase that the sympathies of this place are all with that road, that they have none with the Ohics to de Galena, and they want to know what the Company are doing. I have been asked this so eiten, and not only since I have been here but by persons living on the line of the Road uslists, no man or body of men can be found to state: tat. Dabaque wants to see that road start a first class hotel in your city.
